Project on "Improving the Judiciary’s Capacity" to Fight Human Trafficking in Lebanon
The Arab Center for the Development of the Rule of Law and Integrity (ACRLI) has implemented a project entitled “Improving the Judiciary’s Capacity to Fight Human Trafficking in Lebanon,” in cooperation with the Ministry of Migration Services for Development (MMD) and with funding provided by the US Government.

Project Activities and Outputs

1. A manual was developed to be used as a reference by Lebanese judges and prosecutors on Trafficking in Persons.
2. Six training workshops for prosecutors and judges on Law No. 164/2011 on “Punishment for the Crime of Trafficking in Persons” were organized in cooperation with the Higher Judicial Council.
3. Two training workshops to enhance the knowledge of future judges on Law No. 164/2011 on “Punishment for the Crime of Trafficking in Persons” were organized in cooperation with the Institute of Judicial Studies.
4. Four follow-up seminars were organized for the purpose of discussing the challenges of applying Law No. 164/2011 on “Punishment for the Crime of Trafficking in Persons” and for proposing recommendations to improve its implementation.
5. A central committee of specialized judges and prosecutors was established and endowed with training of trainers responsibilities.
6. Two Training of Trainers (ToT) seminars were organized for the central committee of specialized judges and prosecutors.
7. A study tour to France was organized in cooperation with the French Institute of Judicial Studies to get acquainted with French and European experiences in the fight against trafficking in persons.
8. Awareness sessions were organized for refugee and other marginalized groups in order to increase their knowledge to fight Trafficking in Persons crimes.
9. A legal compendium was created on trafficking in persons and compiled legal texts, court decisions, publications, and other international and regional resources on trafficking in persons.
10. A final conference was organized to launch the final version of the manual on trafficking in persons.

Aims of the Project

The project aims to increase and strengthen the capacity of the judiciary to fight trafficking in persons and enforce the application of Law No. 164/2011 on “Punishment for the Crime of Trafficking in Persons.”

The Project

The project is designed to raise awareness about human trafficking and its legal framework in Lebanon. It provides training and resources to judges and prosecutors to better understand and prosecute trafficking in persons cases. The project also aims to create a network of experts and organizations working towards the prevention and mitigation of human trafficking in Lebanon.
