

Morocco Public Opinion Survey Report Draft

The findings reported below are a brief summary of the main findings extracted from the opinion poll carried out by Information International for the benefit of ACRLI during the period between 10/05/06 and 22/05/06. The report contains the following: methodology of the survey, demographics, as well as reports on the judiciary, media, and parliament pillars.

I- Methodology

Eight hundred participants from various areas in Marrakech (23%), Casablanca (63.5%) and Rabat (13.5%) participated in this survey. The survey used a stratified sampling procedure. Gender distribution in the sample was tilted in favor of male participants (49.8% male, 49.1% female).

II- Missing Data Analysis

The overall refusal rates reached 18.3% of the participants approached for this survey. The overall pattern of missing responses did not exceed 5%. This indicates that the questionnaire, on the whole, did not create unexpected complications for participants. However, closer attention to the pattern of missing data points to

- 1- Item 43 “The parliamentarians endure illegal pressures” had the highest rate of missing data with 23.8% of participants reporting their inability to assess this item. Either participants felt the item to be too sensitive or they did not feel confident enough to provide an assessment on that question.
- 2- Two items hovered around the 22% rate of missing data. These are item 28 “To what extent do journalists accept favors/bribes” (21.5%) and item 39 “A limit for campaign spending is set” (22.8%).

These three items seemed to be the most problematic for our samples. Other items with lower values of missing data may be of interest to authors, and are provided in appendix C, p. 4.

III- Demographics

The following information is presented in percentages.

Gender	Male	49.8
	Female	49.1
	N/A	1.1
Marital status	Married	42.4
	Single	48.4
	Other (divorced/widowed)	8.2

IV- Reports per pillar: Judiciary a- General findings

An important finding is that the state of the judiciary in Morocco tends to be negatively evaluated by members of the general public. Out of the 18 specific questions asked, 15 were negatively evaluated (see section c below).

Furthermore, the two tables below indicate that only 28.9% of participants have dealt with the courts in Morocco, while the overwhelming majority (71.1%) have never been to court. Interestingly, of the 28.9% who have had an experience with the court system in Morocco, 51.1% of participants reported having paid or having been asked to pay bribes or honoraries to court staff, while a quarter of participants (25.3%) have reported being asked to bribe the judge presiding the case. Participants seem to be relatively unsatisfied with their judges' performance and their lawyers' level of discretion and honesty. However, they seem to be a little more satisfied with their lawyers' competence.
